

The Colonial Figure Skating is pleased to announce that they will be running a trial event for the Junior and Senior events using the new Judging System at the 2005 Colonial Synchro Classic, being held at the Tsongas Arena on December 27-29, 2004. This is the same location as the 2005 US Synchronized Team Championships. These results will not be used as the official result, but will be used for teams wishing to see how they fare under this system. The 6.0 system will be the Official Judging system used for all the official competition result.

It is the intention for the judges to be available to critique these teams and explain this new way of judging our skating events for the future. There will also be critiques for all teams under the 6.0 system as well.

More information will be forthcoming, as we organize this event. So be a part of this competition. Hope to see everyone there.
